

Bio- Stefanie Hill, Principal

Stefanie has been involved in education since 1990 when she graduated from Northern Illinois University with a degree in Elementary Education. She taught at the middle school level originally focusing in the areas of Language Arts and Reading. After staying at home for a few years to raise her family, Stefanie returned to the educational field, working as in different positions within DeKalb County. Stefanie started at Genoa-Kingston in 1998 working as a computer teacher/part-time Technology Director, as well as a middle school social studies teacher and a 5th grade classroom teacher. During this time frame, Stefanie continued her education, obtaining a Master of Arts degree from St. Xavier University in Curriculum and Leadership, and a Certificate of Advance Study in Administration and Supervision from National Lewis University. Stefanie transitioned into administration in 2012 as the Curriculum Director for the district. In 2013 she became the Principal at Kingston Elementary School.

Mrs. Hill and her husband, Jim, live in Genoa and have three children. Their oldest son, Alex, 25 year old, lives and works in Chesterfield, Missouri (St. Louis area). Their daughter, Hannah, 22 years old, is a senior at Augustana College. She is majoring in Communication Science Disorders with a minor in Art. Their youngest son, Robbie, 12 years old, is a 7th grader at Genoa Kingston Middle School.
